

Lt. Gen. Humayun Khan Bangash (Retd)
Former Corps Commander, Lahore

Whenever mankind has faced crises like disease, wars and natural calamities, through the collective efforts a solution was always found. It is not going to be different this time also. COVID-19 has provided us an opportunity to reflect on higher values like relationships, reaching out to people in need, and giving a breather to nature. We have also been provided the time and environment to pursue things or projects that we wanted to undertake like calligraphy that I myself have found time to passionately work on during this period.
